Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 29 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with some rain, but perhaps brightening up later.

Today:
Mild but breezy and rather cloudy for much of the day, with spells of rain and showers making progress eastwards. Perhaps becoming more generally dry, bright and less windy later on, although coastal districts may retain a few showers. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly fine during the evening, with showers fading in coastal districts. A further swathe of rain is likely to reach western parts to end the night on a strengthening breeze. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Cloudy, breezy and wet during the morning, the rain perhaps turning heavy briefly before clearing eastwards into the afternoon. Drier and brighter later, with sunshine and perhaps the odd shower. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Successive bouts of wet and windy weather making progress eastwards leading to temperatures below average. Some sunny spells are also likely, these perhaps most widespread on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.